

CAHRS FALL PARTNER MEETING: LEADING HR IN A CHANGING WORLD

December 15, 2022

November Employment Report Shows U.S. Economy Added 263,000 Jobs

Jobless rate remains at 3.7%, signaling continued strength in the labor market

Tech Companies Were Thriving, Now They're Laying Off Thousands. Here's Why.

The job market is booming, so why is the tech industry getting hit with layoffs?

Companies Expand Efforts to Add Diversity to Their Supply Chains

To reach their goals, executives say they must be more aggressive in pursuing diverse suppliers and helping them come on board

Companies Look for Ways to Bring New Directors Up to Speed Quickly

U.S. Wages Rose Rapidly in Third Quarter, Keeping Pressure on Inflation

New pay, price and consumer-spending figures leave the Federal Reserve on track for more interest-rate increases

The quiet quitters are getting quiet fired: The silent war playing out in offices

The 'Great Reflection' on the future of work is not over

AGENDA

24 Years and Counting...Leading HR in a VUCA World

- Kevin Cox, Chief Human Resources Officer, General Electric

Engaging Employees in a Hybrid/Remote Environment

- Holly Harmon, Dan Miller, and Rashi Vora, CAHRS Research Assistants

Understanding the Employee Experience

- Chris Collins, Professor of Human Resource Studies and Director of Graduate Studies, Cornell CAHRS

THANK YOU