

ALEXANDER COLVIN

Martin F. Scheinman Professor of Conflict Resolution, Cornell University, ILR School

LERA Session Title: The Changing Workplace in Public Schools – Connecting Research, Policy and Practice

Paper Title: Bargaining for Better Schools – A Research and Public Policy Dialogue Project

Paper Abstract:

Alex Colvin will describe an initiative at the ILR School's Scheinman Institute on Conflict Resolution to undertake a multi-year research and public policy project on the state of labor-management relations in New York State schools. The goal is to provide forums for dialogue and learning among school administration and union leaders, concerned citizens and policy makers, supported with accurate and up-to-date information and data on the relationships between employment practices and school improvement.